WANAMAKER'S WAIL OF WOE.

Bardsley Preferes a Serious Charge Against the Political Saint.

AND HE BOLDLY PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Interesting Developments Before the Investigating Committee Regarding That Keystone Bank Affair,

PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 10 .- The Bardsley investigating committee held another session this afternoon, at which Postmaster-General Wanamaker attended and testified concerning his transaction with the Keystone bank and the statement-made by ex-City Treasurer John Bardsley to Editor McWade, of the Ledger, which was for the first time made public. It proved to be an interview between Mc-Wade and Bardsley on two different occasions,

In regard to John Wanamaker, Bardsley said that Marsh told him that he knowingly held over-issued shares of bank stock and de-manded $100,000 for them, and upset the plans for reorganizing the bank. WANAMARES QUILTY OF A CRIMP

Bardsley then said that he advised Marsh to engage counsel and make a demand on Wana-maker for the over-sened shares, as he was guilty of a crime in holding them. Marsh's lawyers notified Mr. Wanamaker, that if the fraudulent shares were not delivered to them by a specified date, they would resort to legal measures to get them. The shares were then turned over without delay. Wanamaker had made a threat that he would see Comptroller Lacey in Washington. and have the tank closed before they ex-maker told him where he could get it.

"Two days later Marsh came to me, saying that Wahamaker was persistent and must have the money. I loaned him the money and Wahamaker got it."

Bardsley also talked a great deal about his connection in the past with several prominent Philadelphians and blamed them for the stand they had taken against him. WANAMAKER AGAIN DENIES THE CHARGE.

Postmaster-General Wanamaker who had entered the room while Eardslev's statement was being read, then stepped forward and requested that he be allowed to testity. He stated that he never pledged the over-issued stock after he was told that it was an over issue, and it was out of his hands at the time. As to the story told by Bardsley to McWalle that he had threatened to close the bank release he was pad for the over-issued stock. that he had threatened to close the bank unless he was paid for the over-issued stock and that lawyers Subberger and Johnston had forced him to return it, Mr. Wanamaker said, was absolutely false. In closing his testimony Mr Wanamaker read letters from Comptreller Lacey and Assistant-Secretary Net let note in with the had never influenced or delayed the appointment for an instant of a receiver for the Keystone Bank.

DISPUTE OVER RATES.

It Is Claimed That the Milwankee Road Has Broken an Agreement.

Sr. Paul, Miss., July 10.-It was reported in the city last evening that Charman Finley had served notice on the Milwankee that that road was violating the agreement of the lines in the Chicago pool in the matter of the tickets to the Educational Convention at Toronto. According to the rules adopted by the pool lines, the Omaha was designated as the line which should handle the educational traffic which should handle the educational traffic-from the northwest, going by way of Chicago. But the Milwaukee, it is said, has made the same rate by way of Milwaukee that the Omaha makes by Chicago, claiming that it has a per-ter right to make a rate and compete for busi-ness over any route that does not lead through Chicago. Chairman Finley thinks otherwise and has so notified the company, but as the case cannot be tried before the convention is over, it will not stop the sale of tickets by the way of the route to Milwaukee and across Lake Michigan. An effort was made to see Mr. Dixon of the

CONDITION OF THE CROPS.

Marked Improvement in Cotton-Corn Late, But Wheat Good.

WASHINGTON, July 10 .- The July returns to the Department of Agriculture show some improvement in the cotton condition during the month of June. The general average for the whole breadth has advanced three points, standing at 83.6. This is three points be-low the July return last year, and one above

In but four seasons since 1874 have the July returns been so low. The slight improvement noted has been quite general throughout the whole belt, the result of the favorable weather during the month. The crop is universally late, ranging locally from a few days to two weeks or more. In the Atlantic and Eastern (Interest) Gulf States especially the plant is small and backward, and the lack of suitable weather for chopping out has made the fields very

Germination was slow and imperfect and replanting failed to secure perfect stands locally. Considerable areas have been plowed up and given to other crops or abandoned entirely. From Mississippi westward the plant, while somewhat backward, is of good color, while convenience and the plant of the plant o plant, while somewhat backward, is of good color, making generally a vigorous growth, while plantations running a sufficient number of plows are reasonably clean, there is some complaint of the lack of labor. The outlook in Texas is especially good, plant vigorous, fields well worked and fruiting begun. of the first brood being noted anywhere else. The returns of the condition by States are

The returns of the condition by States are as follows: Virginia, 82: North Carolina, 77; South Carolina, 89: Georgia, 85: Florida, 34: Alabama, 87: Mississippi, 91; Louisiana, 90; Texas, 95: Arkansas, 93: Tennessee, 82.

The temperature of the month was above normal throughout almost the entire region. The rainfall, while rather short, was generally sufficient, and this favorable combination of meteorological conditions enabled the crop to recover somewhat from the unfavorable earlier season. The lateness of the plant will make the final outcome unusually dependent upon the length of the season.

The corn crop is late in all sections on account of the drought and unfavorable conditions at the time of planting and cool weather laring May. But June was warm, with abundant moisture, and the crop was coming forward rapidly on July 1st.

The condition of winter wheat is returned practically the same as in June. The crop is harvested except in its more northern habitation with a condition the highest reported since 1879 with one exception.

The was not "Excelsior," but "No game was not "Excelsior," but "No game to-day. The Baltimores did not arrive." Manager Donati stated that the non-ap-

THE KAISER DESIRES PEACE.

Germany's Young Sovereign Makes an Eloquent Speech.

AN IMPOSING CEREMONY IN LONDON.

The Reception of the Prince of Wales Was of a Mixed Character-The Lord-Mayor Welcomes the Kaiser.

(By Cable to The Times.)

LONDON, July 10 .- The city is in gala attire. Everybody who has bunting has brought it out, and the flags of Great Britain and Prussia are seen everywhere. Many shops have been closed for the day, in order to give employes a chance to see the parade, and many thousands have come to town from various parts of the country, and even Scotland and Ireland. Meantime the Kaiser has been taking things very methodically. This forenoon he quietly visited the naval exhibition. The visit was strictly private, the exhibition being closed to the public during the entire morning. It is said that the Kaiser showed the greatest interest in the trophies of Nelson and Trafalgar. He devoted considerable study to the models of naval archirecture from the English period to the present, and asked many questions, showing that he had given close scientific attention to navalaffairs.

After returning to Buckingham Palace the Kaiser prepared for his grand entry to the city proper of old London. English. Scotch and Irish battalions of the regular soldiers lined the streets. They had been brought from Aldarkatt for the purpose heaving been lined the streets. They had been brought from Aldershott for the purpose, having been encamped during the night in Richmond Park. The route of the procession was by way of the Strand, Fleet street and Ludgate Hill. Enormous crowds filled the streets and every point of vantage was filled with sight-seers. The German Kaiser and Kaiserine had a most brilliant staff. They rode amid the loud plaudits of the multitude, the Prince of Wales, who acted as the Kaiser's escort, also being heartily applauded.

THE PRINCE OF WALES' RECEPTION. The German celebrities in the suite of the Kaiser also shared in the favor of the multi-tude, according as they happened to be known or unknown to the British public.

The reception of the Prince of Wales was of a mixed character. At points he was received with unstinted cordiality and at others foud hissings quite dominated the cheers, though on the whole his reception was favorable.

Here and there was a perfect hurricane of cheers and other demenstrations. The imperial party reached Guild hall at 1:25 o'clock this afternoon. The approaches to Guild hall bore various mettoes expressive of greet. hall bore various mettoes expressive of greet-ings to the imperial visitors. The Lord Mayor received the guests at the entrance, and a procession was formed and moved to the library, where a Court of the Common Council was held and the Recorder of the city of London rend an address to His Majesty, declaring the Lord Mayor and corpora-tion desired to offer him a sincere welcome, declaring his visit to the Queen to be a happy sugary of the continuance of the friendly and affectionate relations so long existing between affectionate relations so long existing between the two nations, also welcoming the Empress, declaring that they heartily appreciated her presence and praying his majesty might long be spared to reign.

The address was presented in a splendid gold casket, richly enameled and decked with precious stones.

THE KAISER'S REPLY.

The Emperor replied to the Lord Mayor's address in the following terms: "My Lord: Please receive my heartfelt thanks for the At Battimere, Louisvilles, ... 0 1 2 0 1 1 0 0 1 - 6 7 5 warm welcome extended to us by the Louisvilles, ... 0 0 1 1 0 6 0 4 x - 11 20 5 of this ancient and noble metropolis. I beg Baltimores, ... 0 0 1 1 0 6 0 4 x - 11 20 5 your lordship to kindly transmit the expression of the same of the s warm welcome extended to us by the citizens sion of my feelings to those in whose name you have spoken. Thave always felt at home in this lovely country, being the grandson of your Queen, whose name will ever be remembered as that of a noble character and of a lady great in the wisdom of her counsels and whose reign has conferred lasting blessings upon England. Morever, the same blood runs in English as in German veins, and following the examples of my grandfather and of my ever lamented father I shall always, so far as in my power, maintain the historical friendship existing between these, our two nations, which, as your lordship has mentioned, have so often been seen side by side in defense of liberty and of justice.

A PEACEFUL PROGRESS ADVANCED. "I feel encouraged in my task when I see that wise, capable men, such as are gathered here to-day, do justice to the earnestness and honesty of my intentions.

"My aim is, above all, the maintenance of My aim is, above all, the maintenance of peace, for peace alone can give the confidence necessary to a healthy development of science, art and trade. Only so long as peace reigns are we at liberty to bestow earnest thoughts upon the great problems, the solution of which, in fairness and equity, I consider the most prominent duty of our time.

"You may, therefore, rest assured that I shall continue to do my best to maintain and "You may, therefore, rest assured that I shall continue to do my best to maintain and to constantly increase the good relations existing between Germany and other nations. "I small always be found ready to unite with you and with them in the common labor for peaceful progress, friendly intercourse and the advancement of civilization

The Prince Will Be Missed. (By Cable to The Times.)

London, July 10.—Prince George, son of the Prince of Wales, is, according to admiralty orders, no longer to flourish in North American waters. The guntoat Thrush, of which Prince George is lieutenant commander, is to be put out of commission, and its piace will be taken on the North American station by a new cruiser, the Tartar, of 3,000 horse power.

The Prince is said to be a great favorite in the colonies and will no doubt be missed. He is also well liked in England, being about the only useful member of the royal family.

The Nobility Opposed to the Match.

[By Cable to The Times.] [By Cable to The Times.]

London, July 10.—A dispatch from Bucharest says that the lower class is becoming very much excited on account of the opposition of the nobility to the proposed marriage of Prince Ferdinand, heir to the throne, to Mille. Vacaresco, one of the Queen's maids of honor. The nobility oppose the match on the ground that the young woman is not of high rank, while with the poorer sort of people this fact makes the projected alliance all the more popular. popular.

Miss Grace Eaton Confesses Complicity in

and Exposes an Awful Crime. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10 .- [Special.]-On Decoration Day Charles C. Frost, a New York electrical engineer, was shot and dangerously wounded by George Lecointe, a Frenchman, who charged that he caught Frost and his wife in a compromising position in a fashionable Twelfth street boardinghouse. At the same time Lecointe shot his wife, and it was thought that both of the wounds would prove fatal. Grace Eaton, a handsome blonde, who resides in New York, and who was here attending the Corcoran Art School, was intimate with the Lecointes, and was in the apartments at the time of the shooting. At the time of the affair it was charged that Miss Eaton had formed a conspiracy to exterminate both Frost and Mrs. Lecointe, so that they might marry, and that she had schemed to bring Frost and Mrs. Lecointe together so that the latter would have a pretext for shooting them. York electrical engineer, was shot and danlatter would have a pretext for shooting them.

Miss Eaton denied the story at the time, but to night she made a complete confession and states that she and Locointe had planned to that end. She said Lecointe had tired of his handsome American wife and declared his love for her. She also says the Frenchman wielded some powerful influence over her, but she was not actuated by love and seemed powerless in his hands. The plan failed because Lecointe failed to kill his intended victims. Had he been successful there is no doubt but what he would have been acquitted by any jury, asthere would have been no witness to prove the untruth of Lecointe's and Miss Eaton's story.

Lecointe has been indicted for shooting with intent to kill, and the case against him will be vigorously prosecuted.

POWDERLY'S STRONG LANGUAGE. The Master Workman Gives Secretary Foster

a Bigid Excoriation. PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 10 .- Master Workman T. V. Powderly has written an open letter to Secretary of the Treasury, Charles Fester, of about five columns in length in regard to the discharge of the seven Knights of Labor from the Eureau of Engraving and Printing. The first column is deveted almost entirely to personal vituperation of the Secretary in which he is referred to as "an artificer in politics and truckery," "a statesman who did not feel too small to squeeze through the narrow crevice of decention and truckery," and speaks of small to squeeze through the harrow crevice of deception and treachery" and speaks of "the demagogue appeals to race prejudice which emanates from you," Mr. Powderly charges the chief of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing with using obscene and profane language, with drunkenness, and with "making a beastly exhibition of his deprayed natural in the huran."

Mr. Powderly gives a fac simile of a letter written by the Secretary to one of the printers, which was alleged to have been stolen from the Secretary and which agrees to reinstate the discharged printers. Some more violent versional abuse followed, in which the most insulting and indecent language is used against the Secretary.

He then devotes a little of his vituperation to Mr. Gompers, and accuses him of pledging the political support of his organization to Mr. Foster in Ohio. The master workman quotes another long letter of his to Mr. Fos-ter, and concludes with another torrent of
